SPECULATION REPRESSED

SMALL VOLUME OF BUSINESS, WITH NARROW FLUCTUATIONS.

One Remarkable Sale of Lake Shore-Pennsylvania's Increased Dividends-Local Trade Activity.

At New York yesterday money on call was Prime mercantile paper, 5@6 per cent. ness in bankers' bills at $4.83% for demand and $4.80%@4.80% for sixty days; posted rates, $4.81@ 4.81% and $4.85; commercial bills, $4.79%@4.80. Silver certificates were 64%@65%c; bar silver, 64%c; Mexican dellars, 59%c. Silver bars at London were 29 15-16d an ounce.

reacted. When the news was bulletined there which it fell back. Early in October Pennsylvania sold below 128. It has been actively traded in by energetic bull interests since that time, and a great variety of assertions have been made as to the forthcoming benefits to the stock. It was alleged, for instance, that the stock would certainly be placed on a 6 per cent. basis. Another story had it that a distribution would be made of a large portion of the great surplus in the Pennsylvania treasury. On the other hand, the belief has prevailed generally that these assertions were exclusively for stockobbing purposes, and that the company would persist in the regular dividend rate of 2½ per cent. semi-annually, which has prevailed ever since 1894. Reviewing these past conditions, it is fair to assume that the day's action was a disappointment to some of the active bulls in the stock, while it was certainly an agreeable surprise to the conservative element in the street. But when it is considered that the net earnngs of the Pennsylvania Railroad and of the directly operated by it have increased during nine months of the year more than $6,000,000 over the corresponding period of last year yes-terday's rate of distribution seems moderate. The extra dividend will involve the disbursement of a little over $1,500,000. There was a ierable show of strength in Sugar. The dvance was attended by rumors that a break the prices of refined sugars is imminent iness in the market at large was too small to have an important effect on prices, though the market closed with the level somewhat above Wednesday night, after having been at one time a shade lower. A single lot of Lake Shore sold just before the close at 230, having sold Wednesday at 210. The closing bids were quoted at 2104. Nothing could be learned to account for this small but urgent demand. The ession of speculation is still attributed to influence of what are called the "controlling rests" in the market. The rise in the money ate to 5 per cent. may have had some bearing the extreme duliness of the speculation. luring the week have been extremely moderate and further receipts yesterday of imported gold brought the total up to nearly $2,000,000 on that stocks, and prices moved irregularly. Total sales at par value were $1,240,000. United States bonds were unchanged on the last call. Following are the day's share sales and the

LOWER PRICE ON WHEAT

ERRATIC COURSE OF THE CEREAL ENDED IN A LOSS.

Corn and Oats Strong, but Unchanged -Active Provision Market, with the Prices Advancing.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 .- Wheat was erratic to-day, but finally turned heavy on weak cables and liquidation, as well as outside apathy. December closing %c lower. Corn and oats closed unchanged, and hog products 10c to 121/2@15c higher. December wheat at the opening sold simultaneously from 74%c to 73%c, compared with yesterday's close at 74%@74%c. The depression was due to a decline at Liverpool in the face of the strong advance here yesterday. While there was plenty of long stuff for sale, the bears were cautious of getting on the short side. A covery followed on Argentine advices, one re porting a 30 per cent. damage and the other estimating a crop of only 48,000,000 bu from that portion of the Southern hemisphere. On rebuying by early sellers and some of the bulls December rallied sharply to 74%c. The falling off in primary receipts and the prospects of a decrease in the visible came as a support near the top of the bulge. Later there was considerable liquidation, largely of November, on the lack of outside support, and December declined heavily to 73%@73%c, closing %c under yesterday at 73%@74c. Deliveries on November contracts were 1,000,000 bu, forming a minor influence in the opening depression. New York reported 25 loads taken for export. Seaboard clearances, in wheat and flour, were equal to 242,000 bu. Primary receipts were 622,000 bu, compared with 838,000 bu last year. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 377 greasy, 3% 6912d. Cape of Good Hope and Natal 200 bales; greasy, 4% 65% d. cars, against 511 last week and 608 a year ago. Local receipts were 163 cars, six of contract

Corn was firm without any appearances of activity. Supporting factors were light country acceptances, wet weather, steady cables, moderate receipts and a fair shipping demand. Elevator people were good buyers of November. December sold between 34%c and 35%c, closing unchanged at 35c. Receipts were 213 cars. Oats were quiet and trade largely of a local character, but the price held firm. The only incident was the buying of November by a Baltimore shipping concern. Shipments were 705,000 bu, against 142,000 bu received. December sold between 22c and 22%c and closed unchanged Provisions were moderately active and exhib ited a decidedly strong undertone. The market opened 214c to 5c higher on hog receipts lighter than expected and an advance in prices at the yards. A further advance followed on a strong cash demand. There was a good demand for everything on the list, but particularly for large January pork sold between $11.22% and $11.32% 11.35 and closed 121/2015c higher at $11.321/2011.35 January lard between $6.671/2 and $6.75, closing 0c up at $6.75, and January ribs between $5.974 and $6.0214

What Shall Be Done with Croker?

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal:

The desperation of the Croker-Bryan combination, as well as the criminal spirit that controls it, could by no means be made plainer than Mr. Croker makes it in his advice to his followers published this home boys. His assertion that "this the cities as in the country towns" is a decoy phrase. He is looking to the fulfillcarry New York anyhow. It is a good omen for McKinley and Roosevelt, for it shows that their enemies have no hope of paring for the most desperate violence. Their filmsiest shadow of a king ever thrown against any people's sky is a ridiculous failure. Even in the old world the monarchs hold on chiefly by sufferance, and he who here in our land is today frightened by the cry of imperialism either knows nothing of the spirit of the American citizen or distrusts his own manhood. So with their dishonest blather about trusts-it now misleads no one. Grant their widest definition of trusts to be correct and it remains that there are good trusts and bad trusts, just as there are good men and bad men, and that the good trusts need to be let alone in the main, and the bad ones restrained, exactly as is the case with men; and as for apply ing restraint to either a bad trust or a bad man, would any sane human being rely upon Croker and Bryan rather than Mc-Kinley?

It is precisely so with every other sub-ject which their speakers have talked about at length during this campaign; they have yawped about them merely to distract attention from the real danger point, the debasement, that is, of our currency and the disturbance of all our business and industrial relations which must follow the substitution of silver for gold as our standard of values. They do not proclaim their purpose to effect such substitution. They have avoided the subject, hidden it from sight, submerged it in seas of words, evaded it, ran from it; but Mr. Croker, the head of the combination, knows that the substitution will practically result if Mr. Bryan, the tail piece, is elected President next Tuesday. And Mr. Croker wants it to result, for he knows that it will bring about a season of distrust and confusion and disaster; and seasons of distrust and confusion and disaster are the looter's opportunity. Mr. Croker is a most skillful looter.

That is the question which is to be decided at the polls next Tuesday; shall Mr. Croker have his coveted opportunity to loot at will for a season, or shall he not? The Croker-Bryan combination unites with Mr. Croker's advice to his Tammany toughs to prove beyond the shadow of a doubt that the issues of the campaign have, as they see them, narrowed down to simply that, and nothing more. Mr. Croker is all they have left. What shall we do with him? O. W. SEARS. Indianapolis, Oct. 31.
